

2019 International Conference on Developmental Social Work

Dialogue with Social Innovation

About the Conference

Eden Social Foundation is partnering with Department of Social Work, National Taiwan University to hold the International Conference on Developmental Social Work. The theme for this year is Dialogue with Social Innovation, which will be discussed in the following areas: community participation and independent living, community industry, employment and poverty reduction, and social enterprises.

With greatest honor, this year we have Prof. Manohar Pawar, president of International Consortium for Social Development, Prof. Julian Chow, professor of School of Social Welfare, University of California, Berkeley and other distinguished speakers to join us and provide in-depth discussion from various perspectives. We hope through this conference, the dialogue between developmental social work and social innovation would bring social work to another level and inspire our work in the future.
